

Committed. Every time. Everywhere.

At AEPM Services, we provide more than engineering and project management: we transform communities. Our role is to offer our clients the know-how to work in potentially challenging environments to bring new projects to life and satisfy all those involved.

Our relationship with our clients is more than a contractual agreement — it is about our commitment to deliver your project according to the budget and schedule you determine. We use our cultural awareness and professional expertise to achieve your objectives expertly and affordably.

QUALITY

- All aspects of engineering and design, including review and due diligence; construction and project management, quality and cost control
- Adherence to international and local standards in all regions
- Specialized services according to the project needs

RELATIONSHIPS

- Close communications with clients on every project including governments, NGOs, private owner/operators, public agencies and institutions
- Customized teams for each project created according to client's requirements, integrating local resources as much as possible
- Cost-effective model using subject matter experts specifically for knowledge-specific aspects, low-cost technical personnel for routine elements

ETHICS AND INTEGRITY

- Strict adherence to national and international anti-bribery and anti-corruption regulations
- Facilitation payments and inappropriate gifts must be reported
- All projects must be conducted in a socially responsible manner, protecting human rights and supporting local communities and cultures

HEALTH, SAFETY AND THE ENVIRONMENT

- A specific HSE policy developed by AEPM that is applied to all projects
- Support and protect personnel, the environment, working conditions and equipment to be both safe and healthy
- Risk and remedial plans for various contingencies put in place according to context and needs

A flexible and experienced team of engineering and project management professionals at your disposal to provide quality services supporting your growth, your needs, your objectives.
